

OVERLOOK RESTAURANT

Destination Drive, approximately 100 miles round trip

Positioned uniquely on a bluff in Leavenworth, Indiana, the Overlook Restaurant offers a 20-mile panoramic vista of the Ohio River. As you enjoy your meal, watch barges and tugboats churning up and down the river or the sun setting behind the wooded hills of Indiana.

Also, check out Walter's Pub while you're here. You may dine or just enjoy a drink on the deck. Dining is only half of the fun as you drive your Porsche from French Lick, IN to Leavenworth. The back roads leading to the Overlook are amazing. There are great turns and exhilarating elevation changes as you cruise to lunch or dinner.

A major flood struck the area in 1937. During the flood, 'Old Leavenworth' was washed away. This caused the townsfolk to move up on the bluff next to the Breeden property. A little over 10 years later the Overlook opened its doors in 1948. Two new dining rooms were added along with a large deck and lower-level party room. They went from 32 seats to 225 seats. That's a lot of seats for a town of 300 people. In May 2010 they opened Walter's Pub, located in the basement of the building. This new pub features over 20 different types of beer including many draft and craft beer selections. Walter's serves mixed drinks as well as a full food menu consisting of pizza and sandwiches. Customers can sit out on the deck and enjoy a spectacular view of the Ohio River.

Since money was short, only a little café and grocery store opened. The grocery was on the second floor of the original O-HI-View chicken hatchery, which was built in 1929. The gasoline pumps in front helped to supplement income. After it became a Greyhound Bus stop everything picked up. Somewhere between then and now, people began calling it the 'Overlook' Restaurant. Tourists that stopped by used words like quaint or unique when describing the Overlook to their neighbors and friends back home. Soon everyone's neighbors and friends began to visit.
